A VOICE FROM THE TOMBS.

Foster Makes an Appeal to the Public.

LETTER FROM THE PRISONER.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Sufficient time has ciapsed since my conviction for the murder of Mr. Putnam to allow me to make that appeal to the cool judgment of the public which my counsel could not make in a court room, oppressed by the usual legal formalities. I have not much to say, but in my awful position what little appeal I make is invested with a terrible importice, to me at least.

After a short and impartial trial, before the case was submitted to the jury, Judge Cardozo charged almost directly in my favor-at least, in modification of the vertict. He directed the jury that a fit of passion did not imply the requisite degree of mulice justifying a verdict of murder in the first negree. He almost as much as told them that in my se there was no evidence proving that I intended to kill Mr. Putnam-that death was a result I never contemplated, and that, however furious the resentment of the public might be, it would not be in ment of the public might be, it would not be in accordance with their oath to convict me of a malicrous purpose to kill Mr. Putham.

The jury was evidently inclined to regard this direction of Juage Cardozo, but they were airrid to abite by it thorougally. Public opinion was too strong; and because, as I believe, it did not stop to consider my case coolly, it compelied that jury to bring me in guilty of downright marder in the first degree. But even then they went as lar as they dared in recommending me to mercy. They recommended me to mercy because they felt that there was something wrong wint the rest of their versict, and they wanted to make the best balance they could without taking any responsibility themselves.

they could without taking any responsibility themmaives.

Now I make this appeal from my condemned cell because the public are beginning to believe with Judge Cardozo. Judge Cardozo said the truth. He said I never meant to kill Mr. Putnam. He knew from the very evidence that there was nothing further from my intention—and it is the intention which makes the crime.

What are the facts of the case? I had been dripking heavily—tod knows I can't excuse that. I was stoppid drunk—mad drunk, and I get into a drunken dimealty with a strange man. That was Mr. Putman. He said something which aggravaled my drunken madness. Without any thought, without any calculation, on the impaise of blind fury I struck him with the first thing that came to hand.
That blow was never intended to kill Mr. Futnam.
It was struck with hardly any intention at all, it was the work of a madmen, not of a deliberate mur-

That blow was never intended to sell Mr. Futnam. It was struck with hardly any intention at all. It was the work of a haddmen, not of a deliberate murderer. It was struck with no recognized weapon, just the first intag that came to hand. If it had fallen on the top of his head it would probably never have killed him. But it did kill him, and the blow which I struck, without having any definite intention, resulting in his death, I am condemned to death in revenge.

No one will protend to say that I deliberately set about to effect Mr. Futnam's death. I made no attempt to escape. I identified myself. I claimed to have struck him, having no idea, no earthly notion that my dranken allow would result in bringing about my conviction of mander.

Public resentinent and exasperation brought about the verdet. There are men in the Tombs who have killed others soberly, in cold blood, and there has been no bue and cry after them. A man who had a quarrel with enother and then went home and stabbed min to death, defiberately and in cold olood, was sent to Sing Sing for four years the other day. There are others in this prison convicted of marder with weapons known to be deadly—so that their intentions in using them could not be doubted a moment—and they are safe.

Then again I was tried in the Court of Over and Terminer, that I might have no appeal. There is no appeal from that court. Everybody else on the tentions in using them could not be doubted a moment—and they are safe.

Then again I was tried in the Court of over and Terminer, that I might have no appeal. There is no appeal from that I might have no appeal. There is no appeal from that I might have no appeal. There is no appeal from that court. Everybody else on the same charge is tried before General Sessions. There are three or four men now convicted and sentenced who have a stay of proceedings, and who will have a new trial, who were tried before General Sessions. I was tried out of my turn. There were others indicated for murder months before me who have not been tried yet, because there was no hue and ory after them, while the public was resolved to have my blood as soon as possible. Out of these I alone am selected to undergrocapital punishment, because while was a sensational case.

No one can doubt the truth of this, and it is because this is the truth, known to God and sworn to by me in the shadow of death, that I make my appeal to the public. I am doomed to die because a wicked drunken fresk resulted in the death of a man whom I no more intended to harm seriously than I would my own child. The public, perhaps, because it forgets me in the hotrer of my cell, convicted of an intention which I never had—as my Creator, into whose presence I am shortly to be furtled, knows better even than I do—insists on my execution.

Is the recommendation to mercy to mean nothing? Does anybody refuse to see in it the protest of the jury against the pressure which forced them to bring me to the gallows? The public, which was furious, compelied the jury to act as it did, and I make my appeal, therefore, to the public.

I implore the public to consider my case, now that I am sentenced, and any evasion of law in my favor is impossible, coolly and dispassionately. I appeal to the public to be just and fear not. And what I have to say in my behalf i say with the solemnity of my situation. I make my appeal as a condemned murder, sentenced to a speedy and ignominious deac

The defendant became surety for the rent, and the The defendant became surety for the rent, and the tenant failing, the plaintiff said the defendant for $1,250, due February 1. 1870. The defendant put in an answer claiming that at the time he signed the agreement the plaintiff agreed with himself to the guarantee, which was never done, and therefore he concluded he was not bound by it.

The case being reached and called on the calendar on the 26th of May, the defendant not appearing, the plaintiff took an inquest, and the Court rendered Judgment for $1,877 to, the amount claimed and interest, which the defendant now seeks to set saids.

THE COTTON MOVEMENT. The receipts of cotton at all the ports for the past week were 36,402 bales, against 40,178 bales the previous week. The total receipts since September 1, 1870, are 3,792,269 bales, against 2,772,432 bales for the corresponding period of last year, showing an increase of 1,091,837 bales in the present crop. The exports from all the ports for the week were 47,892 bales, against 36,160 bales last year. The total exports for the expired portion of the cotton year are 2,944,177 bales, against 1,959,593 bales for the same time last year. The stock at all the ports is 267.130 bales, against 276,080 bales for the same time last

THE BANK STATEMENT. The weekly statement of the associated banks is favorable, but devoid of important feature. The heavy export of specie during the week has reduced the line of specie to the extent of over a million and a haif of dollars, but compensation for this loss in the matter of reserve is more than made up by a gain of about $2,700,000 in legal tenders. The deposits have increased close upon three millions. In loans there is a very moderate expansion, the increase being only $360,000-the result of the duller movement at the Stock Exchange, which necessitated a less active inquiry for loans in connection with speculative transactions. The decrease in circulation is over $100,000-a larger amount than usual. The statement contrasts with its predecessor as follows :-

An analysis of the above figures shows a net gain in reserve of $1,080,181, and a net increase in Habilities of $2,790,238. Deducting twenty-five per cent of the latter from the former leaves $382,622 to be contributed to the surplus over the legal reserve, which surplus now stands at $16,402,653. MONEY TWO TO FOUR PER CENT.

Money, during the usual hours for making engage ments, was quoted at two to three per cent on call loans with pledge of government collaterals, and three to four per cent on stocks. After two o'clock there was the usual Saturday pressure to lend balances, and money was freely offered at three per cent, regardless of the kind of collaterals. Discounts were quoted 4% a 6% per cent for prime GOLD L WER-11214 A 11174. The "bull" clique in the Gold Room were less demonstrative to-day, and made no resistance to large sales by prominent bankers, which were supposed to be the complement of sales of United States government and railroad bonds in the European market. One ramer had it that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company had negotiated a couple of millions of their first mortgage bonds in the London market. These sales depressed the price from 1124 to 1113, after which there was a reaction, the succeeding sales occurring alternately at 112 and 112%. In the loan market the rates ranged from 2 per cent for carrying to flat for borrowing. The operations of the Gold Exchange Bank were as follows:-Gold cleared, $43,825,000; gold balances, $2,395,813; currency balances, $2,805,970. The several European steamers took out a little over $1,291,000.

The government list was a shade lower in some issues-a natural sequence of the reaction in the gold market, but was generally steady in sympathy with the strength of the London money market, which effset the decline in gold, and closed with the following quotatious:-United States currency sixes, 115% a 115%; do. do., 1881, registered, 114 a 114%; do. do., coupon, 117% a 117%; do. five-twentles, registered, May and November, 111% a 112; do. do., 1862, coupon, do., 111% a 112; do. do., 1864, do. do., 1112/a 112; do. do., 1865, do. do., 1113/a 112; do. do., registereu, January and July, 1103/a 1103/; do. do., 1865, coepon, do., 1143/a 1144/; do. do., 1867, do. do., 114% a 114%; do. do., 1868, do. do., 114% a 114%; do. ten-forties, registered, 100% a 100%; do. do., coupon, 110 a 110%. SOUTHERN SECURITIES STRADY.

GOVERNMENTS STEADY.

The Southern State bonds were sleady, with a small but well distributed business, most of the leading issues coming in for attention. The changes in price were unimportant, and the market left off on the street as follows:-Tennessee, ex coupon, 71 a 71%; do. new, 71 a 71%; Virginia, ex coupon, 63 a 69; do. new, 72% a 73%; do. old, registered stock, 56% a 56%; Georgia sixes, 80 a 92; do. sevens, 93% a 94; North Carolina, ex coupon, 47 a 471/4; do. funding, 1866, 37 1/4 a 37 1/2; do. do., 1868, 31 a 32; do, new, 2614 a 2614; do, special tax, 20 a 2014; Missouri sixes, 73% a 73%; do., Hannibal and St. Joseph, 9414 a 9414; Louislana sixes, 70 a 72; do new. 72 a 73; do. levee sixes, 72 a 73; do. do. eights, 85 a so; do. STOCKS WEAK AND LOWER. The stock market was weak and underwent an average decline on the active list of over one per cent, which would probably have been more serious had it not been for the strong support given Lake Shore and Rock Island, which, by advancing each one per cent in face of the drooping tendency of prices, prevented what threatened to be the general demoralization of the whole list. The decline was more marked in Pacific Mail, Western Union Telegraph, New Jersey Central, Hannibal and St. Joseph preferred, Pittsburg, New York Central, Wabash, Reading, C., C. and I. C., and the Northwestern shares. Lake Shore advanced to 115% on the sidewalk after the adjournment of the session up stairs, the rise being due to the usual timidity of the "short" interest on Saturday afternoons particularly, as bets were freely offered that the scrip dividend would be made before the middle of next week. Rock Island was once quoted at 123%, but the transaction was cancelled, the buyer begging to be excused on the ground of making a mistake in reading an order from a customer. The pest figure was 123%, which, and that of 115% for Lake Shore, are the highest figures of the season for these two stocks. BIGHEST AND LOWEST PRICES.

THE FARMERS BUINED.

Notwithstanding the severe storm of last week the Long Island farmers will be heavy losers, as it came too late for many of the crops. Cabbage and tomato plants are destroyed and small seeds did not sprout at all. Many of the farmers have had to pull up their pea vines as they were so badly withered as to their pea vines as they were so basily witherest as to be beyond hope of producing the most meagre crop. The loss will amount to over one million dollars, and comes with fatal effect to many farmers, as the price of produce is very low while the rates of pro-duction and productive material are night.
